Sir,

Here we go again the AEC is going to bust up the boundaries again just to suit the Politicians so Joe Blow doesn't have any more than Jet Jackson, well as far as I'm concerned it's a waste of time and a waste of our Tax money and it will not be of any benefit to any one as you just do it all over again, and the AEC being just as bloody minded as Telstra you will go ahead and do it any way no matter how many people object to the change.

Why don't you move the politicians around as they do absolutely nothing just tell big stories and couldn't tell the truth if they tried, you only have to watch the ABC their program Parliament Question Time what a pack of idiots you only have to look at the way they carry on, not one person will give a straight answer when asked and most of the others just couldn't give a damn what's being said and talk amongst themselves and there in charge of the country and to rub salt into the wound you want to change the boundaries to suit them you have to be joking, the AEC is just as bad as them and really do not care all that much any way, so my view of the AEC is just as dim as the Pollies in Canberra, if the pollies got off their backsides and got out into the country and spoke to their voters and took a real interest into whats happening people just might move from one electorate to another, to politician just might be able to help them in the long run but that won't happen not the way the country is at the moment and not till the politicians take a real interest in what's happening around them and the problems facing their voters.

Furthermore since when has the AEC become an extension of the Roads and Traffic Authority?, the reason I'm asking I happen to be shown a penalty notice of a friend of mine who is a Doctor for not voting and in big red bold writing and it says or near to the effect Failure to act on this penalty notice could mean the Non Renewal of your Drivers Licence what other low acts does the AEC have up its sleeves, as I have stated before my view of the AEC was dim but if this is what the AEC is stooping to I have not one bit of faith in the AEC nor its Departments or Polling booths so much so in the next and future upcoming voting's I am going to walk in get my name marked off the roll and walk out as your not interested in the final out come your just interested in bloody numbers.

What a dull life the AEC must have,

Yours

Stephen Dean
