- itinerant and don't have a real place of living, that is a place to which you intend to return to live, even if you are temporarily living somewhere else
- homeless – if you are living in crisis or transitional accommodation or if you have inadequate access to safe and secure housing.

* For South Australian electors only, if you were a British subject enrolled between 26 October 1983 and 25 January 1984 inclusive.

You cannot use this form if you are:

- travelling around Australia on an extended trip and intend returning to your fixed address
- leaving Australia for a short period
- travelling for extended periods in connection with work, such as farm workers, fishing crews and mine workers but intend to return to your fixed address.

Is it compulsory to enrol and vote?

Enrolment and voting is not compulsory for persons with no fixed address.

In which division/electorate can you enrol?

You must enrol for the address where:

- A you were last eligible to be enrolled (this will generally be the place where you last lived for at least one month)
- B one of your next of kin is currently enrolled if you have not previously been eligible to be enrolled
- C you were born, if neither of the above apply, or
- D you have the closest connection if none of the above apply.

Within three weeks of receiving your enrolment form the AEC will confirm your enrolment. We may seek further information from you and confirm your enrolment using any of the contact details you provide.

Where do you vote?

- You will be able to vote in federal, State and local government elections as an ordinary voter at any polling place within the electoral area for which you are enrolled.
- You may also cast an absent vote at any other polling place provided it is within your enrolled state or territory.
- If you are not in the state or territory for which you are enrolled, or if you are unable to attend a polling place on polling day, you may vote at a pre-poll centre, or by post. Postal vote application forms are available from any Australia Post outlet.
- Contact any office of the AEC or the Electoral Commission of South Australia for more information on pre-poll and postal voting.

Change in living arrangements

For federal elections, if you establish a permanent place of living in Australia and live there for a period of one month, you must enrol as an ordinary elector. Enrolment forms are available from any Australia Post outlet, AEC office or at www.aec.gov.au

Homeless people who are living in crisis or transitional accommodation can continue to be enrolled as a person with no fixed address for as long as they remain living in this accommodation.

For State and local government elections, if you establish a permanent place of residence within South Australia or you leave the State for a period of more than one month, you are no longer entitled to be enrolled to vote as a person with no fixed address.
