Agency Purpose

The Australian Electoral Commission (AEC) is an independent statutory authority established by the Australian Government to maintain an impartial and independent electoral system for eligible voters through active electoral roll management, efficient delivery of polling services, and targeted education and public awareness programs.

The AEC's values and commitments

The AEC values and commitments are an essential component of our operating environment and frame how AEC staff work. The AEC's focus is on electoral integrity through the values of quality, agility and professionalism.

Locations

The AEC is geographically diverse with a National Office in Canberra, a State Office in each state capital and a Northern Territory Office in Darwin. Each state is divided into electoral divisions (there are 150 across Australia), which may alter in accordance with changes to the distribution of electoral boundaries.

Work Environment

The Corporate Services Branch (CSB) is responsible for providing a broad range of services to support the strategic focus of the AEC and the work undertaken across the AEC and its implementation in the business environment. It does this by partnering with senior managers across the network providing advice and practical assistance to progress organisation-wide change initiatives and to support electoral events.

CSB has approximately 65 staff over five sections; People, Security and Integrity, People Services, Election Workforce and Systems, CFO and Resource Management and Financial Management, within which the vacancy sits. The People, Security and Integrity Section includes Security, People and Place (ASA), IT Security – Systems and Operations (ITSA) and People, Performance and Integrity.

The AEC is committed to the APS values of being impartial, committed to service, accountable, respectful and ethical.
