Introduction

The Torres Strait Regional Authority (TSRA) Election Guide provides information about the 2020 TSRA election. The Election Guide should not be taken as legal advice and does not take the place of the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Act 2005 (the Act) or the Torres Strait Regional Authority Election Rules 2017 (the Rules). Copies of the Rules are available from the TSRA Office and the Australian Electoral Commission (AEC) website www.aec.gov.au/tsra.

The AEC is responsible under the Act for conducting the election according to the Act and the Rules. Contact the AEC for assistance with any questions you have about the election process. The AEC does not provide legal advice on any aspect of the election.

The address for the AEC’s National Office, Queensland State Office and the Returning Officer are listed at the end of this guide.

Torres Strait Regional Authority

The TSRA Board consists of 20 elected members who are all Torres Strait Islander or Aboriginal people living in the Torres Strait region. Members are elected usually every four years by their individual communities.

The Board determines the TSRA’s policies and budget allocations, and it is the political arm of the TSRA.

Wards

There are 20 wards for the 2020 TSRA election. Each ward elects one member to the TSRA Board. The wards are:

1. Badu Island
2. Bamaga
3. Boigu Island
4. Dauan Island
5. Erub Island
6. Hammond Island
7. Iama Island
8. Kubin
9. Mabuiag Island
10. Masig Island
11. Mer Island
12. Ngurapai and Muralag
13. Port Kennedy
14. Poruma Island
15. Saibai Island
16. Seisia
17. St Pauls
18. TRAWQ
19. Ugar Island
20. Warraber Island

The AEC will advertise details of eligibility to vote in the election. If you are unsure of your eligibility to vote in the TSRA election, please contact the Returning Officer.
Nominations

Who can nominate

Candidates must be nominated before they can be elected to the TSRA. You cannot nominate in more than one ward, or more than once in the same election for that ward. To be a candidate for the TSRA, you must:

- be a Torres Strait Islander or an Aboriginal person
- be on the Commonwealth Electoral Roll for an address within the ward you want to represent
- live in the ward you want to represent
- not be a staff member of, or a consultant to, the TSRA (if you are, you must resign before you nominate)
- not be bankrupt and have no personal insolvency agreement in operation with your creditors under the law relating to bankruptcy
- not have been convicted of an offence against a Commonwealth, state or territory law and sentenced to imprisonment for one year or longer (see below for exception)
- not have been convicted of an offence against a Commonwealth, state or territory law involving dishonesty and sentenced to prison for three months or longer (see below for exception).

If you have been convicted of an offence against a Commonwealth, state or territory law and sentenced to imprisonment for one year or longer, or convicted of an offence against a Commonwealth, state or territory law involving dishonesty and sentenced to prison for three months or longer, you are still allowed to stand for election to the TSRA if you satisfy all of the other criteria above and:

- you were never actually imprisoned for the offence and at least two years have passed since your conviction; or
- you served a term of imprisonment for the offence and at least two years have passed since your release from prison; or
- you have applied to the Federal Court of Australia and the Court declared that, despite your conviction, you are not disqualified to stand as a candidate.
How to nominate

Each candidate must complete a nomination form. Nomination forms are available from the AEC Cairns Office, the TSRA Office and the AEC website at www.aec.gov.au/tsra

When completing the nomination form, please ensure that you provide all the required information and that appropriate signatures are obtained. Candidates must sign a declaration stating they consent to act as a member of the TSRA if elected and declare that they are qualified to stand for election. All candidates must be nominated by at least four Torres Strait Islander or Aboriginal voters (other than the candidate) who are enrolled on the Commonwealth Electoral Roll in the ward for which the candidate is nominated. It is strongly suggested that candidates have more than four nominators, in case some prove not to be enrolled in the ward.

When to nominate

Nominations open on Tuesday 29 September 2020 and close at 5pm on Wednesday 28 October 2020. The Returning Officer must receive completed nomination forms by this time, or they will not be accepted. It is suggested that nomination forms are lodged at least one week before the due date to allow time for any problems to be resolved. The names and places of residence of persons nominating as candidates in TSRA elections are confidential until the Returning Officer publicly announces them on Thursday 29 October 2020.

Where to nominate

Nominations can be made in person, or by post, email or fax. Nominations must be received by the Returning Officer by the due date and time (5pm on Wednesday 28 October 2020). Do not rely on the mail if you are nominating close to the due date. Nominations that have been posted and are delivered after 5pm on Wednesday 28 October 2020 will not be accepted. The contact details for the Returning Officer are at the back of this guide.

Candidate photographs

If a candidate wishes to provide a photograph, the photo should be provided to the Returning Officer by the close of nominations. Copies of candidate photographs are displayed during voting at all places where voting takes place. Please refer to the photograph guidelines on the nomination form.

Acknowledgement of nomination

The Returning Officer will send you a letter advising that your nomination has been received.
Rejection of nomination

A nomination will be rejected if the form is not completed as the Act and the Rules require – for example, if only three of your four nominators are enrolled on the Commonwealth Electoral Roll in the ward for which you are nominating. It is in your interest to lodge your nomination early to allow time for any problems to be resolved.

Withdrawal of nomination

A candidate may withdraw their nomination any time before nominations close, but cannot do so after 5pm on Wednesday 28 October 2020. The withdrawal notice is available from the AEC Cairns office and must be returned to the Returning Officer when completed. If the notice of withdrawal is received prior to the close of nominations, the nomination is then cancelled.

Uncontested wards

There is one vacancy in each ward. If only one candidate nominates in a ward, the Returning Officer will declare that candidate elected on the same day the declaration is made for all the wards for which elections are being held. The declaration will not take place until polling is concluded and results for all the wards are determined.

Order of names on the ballot papers

The Returning Officer will conduct a public draw on Thursday Island to determine the order of the candidates on the ballot paper. Where two or more candidates have similar names, and where this is likely to cause confusion, the names of these candidates may have other descriptions to distinguish them from one another. The Returning Officer will contact the relevant candidates if this occurs.

Death of a candidate

If any candidate dies between the declaration of nominations and polling day and there is only one remaining candidate in the election for that ward, the remaining candidate will be declared elected on the same day the declaration is made for all the wards for which elections are being held. If there is more than one remaining candidate in that ward, however, the election for that ward will proceed.
Electoral offences and legal proceedings involving candidates

Candidates and their supporters should be aware that there are a number of rules by which they are bound and for which substantial penalties are prescribed. It is in the interests of candidates and their supporters to be aware of these rules. While the AEC will help candidates by providing information about their nomination or campaign, the AEC does not provide any legal advice. Candidates must seek independent advice from their own legal advisers if they think it is necessary.

Printing and publication of election material

Election material such as electoral advertisements, handbills, pamphlets or notices must not be printed, published or distributed unless the name and address (not post office box) of the person who authorised the election material appears at the end of it, as well as the name and place of business of the printer. Only the name and address of the person who authorised the election material is required if the advertisement or notice is going in a newspaper.

This rule does not apply to a car sticker, T-shirt, lapel button or badge, pen, pencil or balloon, or to a newspaper advertisement announcing the holding of a meeting.
Enrolment

To vote in the 2020 TSRA election, you must be enrolled on the Commonwealth Electoral Roll for an address in a ward by 5pm on Friday 13 November 2020.

To enrol, you must complete an enrolment form. These are available from the AEC website http://www.aec.gov.au/enrol, AEC offices and the TSRA office.

It is important to make sure you are enrolled correctly. If your address has changed or you have changed your name, you can update your details on the AEC website https://www.aec.gov.au/enrol/update-my-details or by completing a paper enrolment form and returning it to the AEC.

Who can vote?

To be eligible to vote in the 2020 TSRA Election you must:

- be a Torres Strait Islander or an Aboriginal person
- be 18 years of age or older on polling day
- be enrolled on the Commonwealth Electoral Roll for an address in a ward by 5pm on Friday 13 November 2020.
Liaison Officers

Liaison Officer

Liaison Officers must be Torres Strait Islanders or Aboriginal people who reside in the Torres Strait area and are 18 years of age or older. Liaison Officers cannot be a candidate for the election or a member of the staff of, or a consultant to, the TSRA.

The Liaison Officer’s job is to protect the rights of Torres Strait Islanders and Aboriginal people in this election. Because they come from the Torres Strait area, the Liaison Officer will know most of the voters. The Liaison Officer may ask voters questions to help them decide whether the voter is a Torres Strait Islander or an Aboriginal person. If the Liaison Officer believes that a voter is not a Torres Strait Islander or an Aboriginal person, they must complete and sign a “Record of Liaison Officer’s Objection and voter’s request for review” form.

If this happens, the voter must still put their Voter Card envelope in the ballot box. If the voter believes they are a Torres Strait Islander or an Aboriginal person and wishes to appeal against a Liaison Officer’s objection, the voter must complete the “Voter’s appeal and request for review by Regional Panel” section and give it to the Liaison Officer before the voter leaves. The voter then has seven days to provide further information or evidence to the Senior Liaison Officer that they are a Torres Strait Islander or an Aboriginal person.

Senior Liaison Officer

The Senior Liaison Officer must be a Torres Strait Islander or an Aboriginal person, be 18 years of age or older, and reside in the Torres Strait area. The officer cannot be a candidate for the election or a member of the staff of, or a consultant to, the TSRA.
Regional Panel

The Regional Panel consists of the Senior Liaison Officer and two other Torres Strait Islander or Aboriginal people.

If the Liaison Officer has recorded the details of a voter that the Liaison Officer has decided is not a Torres Strait Islander or Aboriginal person, and that voter has signed the “Voter’s appeal and request for review by Regional Panel” and it has been given it to the polling official in charge before leaving the polling booth, then an appeal against the Liaison Officer’s Objection has been made.

Once a request for review is received, the voter may provide further information to support their claim to be a Torres Strait Islander or an Aboriginal person to the Senior Liaison Officer within seven days. This information could be:

- a letter from an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander organisation or community
- a letter from the TSRA
- an endorsement on the form “Advice challenging eligibility to vote” given to the voter by the Liaison Officer at the polling booth
- any other information to support the voter’s claim to be a Torres Strait Islander or an Aboriginal person.

The Regional Panel will review the person’s claim and consider any information that might have been provided. The review by the Regional Panel must be completed by Monday 7 December 2020. The Senior Liaison Officer will inform the voter in writing of the decision made by the Regional Panel.
Types of voting

Ordinary voting

An ordinary vote is when you vote on polling day in the ward where you are enrolled. Ordinary voting will be available to voters enrolled in the wards of Bamaga, Ngurapai and Muralag, Port Kennedy and TRAWQ.

For all other wards, voting will be available through mobile polling. A schedule setting out the date, time and place of mobile polling will be available on the AEC website at www.aec.gov.au/tsra, at the AEC Cairns office and the TSRA office.

Voting will not take place in an uncontested ward.

At the polling booth, the polling official will ask you whether you have voted before in this election.

The polling official will give you a Voter Card, which you must complete and hand back to the polling official. If you need help completing the Voter Card, you can ask either the polling official or a friend to assist you.

The polling official will separate the Voter Card showing your personal details from the Voter Card envelope and give you back the envelope and a ballot paper for your ward. Take the ballot paper and envelope to a voting screen and mark your ballot paper in the following way:

- Put a number “1” in the box next to the candidate you would most like to represent you. If you wish, you may also show your order of choice for some or all of the remaining candidates by using the numbers 2, 3, and so on as needed.
- Fold the ballot paper and put it in the Voter Card envelope, then seal the envelope and take it to the Liaison Officer, who will be next to the ballot box.

The Liaison Officer will hand the envelope back to you after they have decided (on the balance of probability) whether they believe you are a Torres Strait Islander or an Aboriginal person.

You then put the envelope in the ballot box.

The Liaison Officer may ask you questions to help decide whether you are a Torres Strait Islander or an Aboriginal person. If the Liaison Officer decides that you are not a Torres Strait Islander or an Aboriginal person, the officer will complete a “Record of Liaison Officer’s Objection and voter’s request for review” form. The Liaison Officer will also give you a form called “Advice challenging eligibility to vote”, which explains how you can appeal against the Liaison Officer’s Objection.

If this should happen to you, and you are a Torres Strait Islander or an Aboriginal person and you wish to appeal, you must complete the “Voter’s appeal and request for review by Regional Panel” section and give it to the Liaison Officer before you leave the polling booth. You will then have seven days to provide further information that you are a Torres Strait Islander or an Aboriginal person to the Senior Liaison
Absent voting

If you want to vote at a polling booth that is not located in the ward where you are enrolled, you can go to that polling booth and complete an absent vote. Absent voting is the same as ordinary voting except that:

- you will also be asked which ward you are enrolled in
- you will be issued with a ballot paper for the ward where you are enrolled and not the ward where you are voting.

Early voting (pre-poll)

If you are unable to vote at a polling booth on polling day, you may be eligible to complete an early vote called a “pre-poll vote”.

Pre-poll voting will be available every weekday at the AEC Cairns office from Monday 16 November 2020, and on Thursday Island from Monday 23 November 2020 until Friday 27 November 2020. Information about early voting locations, days and times will be available on the AEC website at www.aec.gov.au/tsra, at the AEC Cairns office and the TSRA office.

The Issuing Officer will give you a Pre-Poll Voter Card that you must complete and hand back for the officer’s signature. If you need help to do this, you can ask either the polling official or a friend to help you.

Mark your vote on the ballot paper in the presence of the Issuing Officer, but so that they cannot see your vote. To mark your ballot paper, put a number “1” in the box next to the candidate you would most like to represent you. If you wish, you may also show your order of choice for some or all of the remaining candidates by using the numbers 2, 3, and so on as needed. Fold your ballot paper and hand it to the Issuing Officer. The Issuing Officer will place the ballot paper in the envelope and seal it.

Your Pre-Poll Voter Card must be certified by a Torres Strait Islander or an Aboriginal person who is an office-bearer of an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander Corporation (but not a candidate for any ward). This is to confirm that you are a Torres Strait Islander or an Aboriginal person. The AEC will provide assistance in arranging for an office-bearer of an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander Corporation to be present at the pre-poll voting centre.

After the Pre-Poll Voter Card has been certified, the Issuing Officer will detach the card from the envelope containing the ballot paper and place the envelope in the ballot box.
Postal voting

If you are unable to vote at a polling booth on polling day or at a mobile polling booth, you can apply to have your ballot paper sent to you in the mail.

Postal vote applications are available from the AEC website www.aec.gov.au/tsra, the AEC Cairns office or the TSRA office. Once your application is completed, it must be returned to the Returning Officer. Your postal vote application must be received by the Returning Officer by the last mail clearance on Thursday 26 November 2020. It is recommended you return your completed application as early as possible to allow sufficient time for the voting material to be sent to you for completion. It is recommended you email the completed application form to TSRA@aec.gov.au if possible.

When you receive your postal voting materials you must do the following before polling day (Saturday 28 November 2020):

- Sign the Postal Voter Card in front of a witness, who must also sign and date the Postal Voter Card. The witness can be any person (except a candidate for your ward) who is on the Commonwealth Electoral Roll.

- Fill in the ballot paper in front of the witness, but do not let the witness see how you fill in the ballot paper.

- Fold the ballot paper and put it in the Postal Voter Card envelope, then seal the envelope.

- Have the Postal Voter Card signed by a Torres Strait Islander or an Aboriginal person who is an office-bearer of an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander Corporation (but not a candidate for any ward). This is to certify that you are a Torres Strait Islander or an Aboriginal person.

- Post or deliver the Postal Voter Card envelope to the Returning Officer. If the post is unlikely to reach the Returning Officer by Friday 4 December 2020, you must instead take the envelope to a pre-poll voting centre, a polling booth, or the Returning Officer before the close of the poll on Saturday 28 November 2020.

An envelope that bears a postmark dated after polling day is taken to contain a vote that was not recorded before the close of the poll and will not be accepted.
Help for voters

If you cannot read, or have a disability, and are unable to vote without assistance, you can ask for help. This is what you should do.

At the polling booth or pre-poll voting centre

You can choose someone to go with you and complete the Voter Card or Pre-Poll Voter Card and fill out the ballot paper for you. No one else is allowed to watch. You must first advise the polling official in charge that the other person is going to help you.

If you have not chosen someone to help you, the polling official in charge can help you in the presence of any scrutineers.

Postal voter

You can either ask someone to help you fill in the Postal Voter Card and the ballot paper in front of the witness (the witness should not see how the person marks the ballot paper), or the witness can help you. You must still sign the Postal Voter Card yourself.

COVID-19 safe practices

Stay COVID-free – Do the 3

1. Wash your hands, with soap and water where you can, for at least 20 seconds.
2. Keep your distance from other people (two big steps apart and no big groups).
3. Download the COVIDSafe App.

If you feel like you might be getting sick, stay at home and speak to your local health service or doctor about getting tested.

If you get sick before polling day then you may be eligible to vote by postal vote.
Informal ballot papers

A ballot paper is informal if:

- it does not show a first preference for any candidate
- it has a number “1” in more than one box
- there are ticks or crosses instead of a numbered order
- it has anything written on it that may identify the voter.

Informal ballot papers cannot be included in the count.

Counting the votes

Your vote is secret. Before counting any ballot papers, the Returning Officer must first check to make sure that all voters who voted in respect of a ward are on the Commonwealth Electoral Roll for an address in that ward. To do this, the Returning Officer uses the personal information supplied on the Voter Cards (or Pre-Poll Voter Cards or Postal Voter Cards), which are separated from the sealed envelopes containing the ballot papers. After the details of all the people who have voted for your ward have been checked, the votes are counted.

The Returning Officer is required to allow six days after polling day before counting votes in case any postal ballot papers that have been issued to voters are still outstanding.

ELECTING ONE REPRESENTATIVE

To be elected, a candidate must get more than half the formal votes in the count for that ward.

All the first preference votes for each candidate are counted first. If a candidate has more than half the first preference votes, that person is elected.

If no candidate has more than half the first preferences votes, the candidate with the fewest first preference votes is excluded and their votes are either distributed to the remaining candidates (according to the second preferences on the excluded candidate’s ballot papers) or are removed from the count (if the ballot papers have no second preference). The distributed votes are added to the first preference votes the remaining candidates already have. If any candidate now has more than half the formal votes left in the count, they are elected (otherwise the candidate now with the lowest combined number of votes is excluded next, and their votes distributed or removed). This process of excluding the candidate with the lowest number of votes and distributing their votes to candidates still in the count continues until a candidate has more than half the formal votes remaining in the count for that ward.
Scrutineers

Role of scrutineers

Scrutineers may, on behalf of the candidates, observe the voting, counting and distribution of preferences conducted by polling officials. Scrutineers are given legal rights and obligations under the Rules. Candidates may not act as scrutineers for themselves. Scrutineers are appointed by candidates and not by the AEC or the TSRA.

Appointment of scrutineers by candidates

Candidates may appoint scrutineers to represent them at polling booths and at the scrutiny (that is, during the counting of the votes) by completing Section A – Appointment by Candidate, on the “Undertaking by Scrutineers” form available from the AEC website www.aec.gov.au/tsra or the AEC Cairns office. The form must be signed by the candidate (a fax or email copy of the form with the candidate’s signature is acceptable). The name and address of the scrutineer must be provided.

Each scrutineer must sign the agreement on the form that they will not try to attempt to influence a vote of another person, and that they will carry out their duties in accordance with the Rules.

Only polling officials, scrutineers, Liaison Officers, and voters voting, or about to vote, are allowed in a polling booth during the polling. No other person can enter or remain in a polling booth during the polling, except by permission of the polling official in charge of the polling booth.

Scrutineers must organise their own transport to all polling booths, including mobile polling booths.

At the scrutiny, the number of scrutineers for any one candidate must not be more than the number of people counting.
Declaration of the result

As soon as possible after the results are known, the Returning Officer must publicly declare the result of the election and the names of the candidates elected. The Returning Officer will advise the candidates of the time and place of the public declaration.

The Returning Officer makes a statement for each ward that sets out the result of the election and then sends it to the Electoral Commissioner, who advises the Minister for Indigenous Australians.

Recounts and disputed results

Recounts

Recounts usually take place when the result of an election is very close and may happen at any time before the declaration of the result of an election.

The Returning Officer may be directed by the Electoral Commissioner to recount all or some ballot papers, or the Returning Officer may do so if they think it is appropriate. Only candidates are allowed to ask for a recount, and the Returning Officer must notify each candidate of the time and place of any recount.

The Returning Officer is not required to conduct a recount just because a candidate requests one.

When asking for a recount, candidates must write to the Returning Officer or the Electoral Commissioner giving their reasons for the request.

During a recount, the Returning Officer has the same powers as if the recount were the original count and may reverse any decision made in the original count to admit or reject a ballot paper.

The Returning Officer conducting a recount may – if asked by a scrutineer – reserve any ballot paper for the decision of the Electoral Commissioner. The Electoral Commissioner must decide whether any ballot paper reserved for their decision is to be admitted or rejected.

Disputed results

The validity of any election may be disputed only by a petition to the Federal Court of Australia. Procedures for disputing an election are laid down in Schedule 4 of the Act. Neither the AEC nor the TSRA provide legal advice. Those considering a challenge should obtain independent legal advice.
