Dear Sir

We of the Baradine Country Women's Association of NSW wish to object to the proposed redistribution which erases Gwydir and makes Parkes the largest area of the state.

This area would be totally impossible for any one man to properly represent let alone get to see all of the constituents. Maybe the population is low in this area, but surely common sense has to prevail. We, the people who live in this area deserve to be represented by a Member who can at least visit on a semi regular basis not once (maybe) during the term of the Member.

If an electorate has to be removed, surely it would be better to select one where there are many close together, for example along the coast or in Sydney, instead of in the country where distances are so vast.

Yours sincerely
