Dear Sirs,

I am writing to convey my concern as to the proposal to merge the electorate of Sydney with our electorate of Parkes, which is already too large. The resulting loss of another country representative in parliament, would be a disaster.

Country people are already severely disadvantaged with poor roads, a higher price for fuel and groceries, compared to city dwellers, plus the appalling shortage of medical facilities. If the number of electorates needs to be reduced in New South Wales, then Sydney has an over abundance to choose from. Please don't penalise us.

yours faithfully

Mrs. Judith L. Wass.
