Dear Sir,

As a member of Sydney Electorate I strongly object to a merger with the rest of Parkes all just too big, 47% of N.S.W x $5\frac{1}{2}$ times the size of Tasmania, no member of Parliament however good he is can get around to all his constituents & look after them properly. Anybody that would have to wait hours & hours to see their M.P. whereas in Sydney people see only 10 minutes at the most to see their M.P. There would be 19 local governments in the new seat of Parkes & one member of Parliament cannot possibly provide fair & equitable representation to all of them. It would also reduce the voice of country people in Federal Parliament. Why not take one of the Sydney seats if you must. Remember it's the country people who produce all your food & produce for the city. John H. Cunningham
