Dear Sirs,

We wish to express our concern about the draft boundaries for the new redistribution, which proposes to abolish the seat of Gympie & merge it with the seat of Parkes.

Apart from the fact that this is one less seat in Parliament to represent the country people, there is no way one person could adequately do justice to an area the size the Parkes seat would cover.

Would it not be fairer to redistribute the boundaries in one of the Sydney seats, where representation by one person would be so much easier & much less onerous. After all N.S.W does not mean Newcastle, Sydney & Wollongong, it means New South Wales

Yours sincerely,

Lu Connell
