To whom it may concern,

I would like to express my sincere objection to the axing of the Gwydir electorate. I have been a part of this electorate for almost ten years and find having a member of parliament in Gunnedah very beneficial.

Having a seat that takes up 47% of NSW is ridiculous. There is no way the person holding this seat could adequately cover and represent such a large area.

This should not be based solely on population but rather remembering that people in the country need a voice in parliament too. The loss of a seat in Sydney would have far less disruption for voters.

Please keep the Gwydir electorate.

Yours sincerely,

Karen Kennedy
