Dear sir

It is with great concern that I have heard of the proposal to abolish the NSW seat of Gwydir and merge the electorate into the seat of Parkes.

This would mean the creation of a seat covering 379,474 square kilometres which is far too large. It is impossible for one person to effectively travel around such a huge area and truly represent all the people as they should be represented.

It will also mean that country NSW will lose another voice in parliament and there will be less people to stand up and fight for those in the rural areas.

We in the National party strongly oppose any loss of seats West of the great divide and urge that the proposed changes not go ahead.

Yours faithfully Bruce Toole
