I am writing to object to the intended boundary changes to the seat of Wagalong.

Why should the people in rural areas lose a seat take one from a Sydney Electorate.

How do you think a representative can adequately cover 380,000 square kilometres in size, he or she could not.

But of course the rural people do not count. It does not matter that we have a reduced voice in Federal Parliament.

Like a lot of other services out here we would have to travel hours to see our M.P. whereas in Sydney their M.P. would be no further away than 10 minutes. But of course you must not inconvenience Sydney people.
