

The Federal Redistribution 2006
QUEENSLAND

Comment Number 18 on Objections

Mr William J Manning

2 pages

WILLIAM. J. MANNING 94 Queen St Melbourne 465C
SUBMISSION RE. ELECTOR. BOUNDARY CHANGE. WIDE BAY.
TO AUSTR. ELECTOR. COMMISSION.

- 1 To register to Vote one has to be an Australian Citizen
- 2 Therefore has the Rights and Privileges of the Australian People Produced Constitution.
- 3 This Constitution sets out the Exact Blue Print as to How Australian Citizen shall be Governed.
- 4 It can only be altered by the Australian Citizens that Reside as where they May choose anywhere in Australian Territory. By a Vote that is COMMENT called a Referendum.
- 5 The Constitution Blue Print has Not been followed for Decades by the Parliament. That is made up of The Queen Her Majesty's appointed Representative, A Senate, A House of Representatives. 11-18 Three distinct Units.
- 6 The Australian people have Voted. The Legislative Power in ^{the} Constitution, in that Parliament, Complete and Total.
- 7 It cannot be given away ^{see section 5} any part of this Legislative Power, To any Foreign Nation, Foreign Organisation, or Any Internal Body, without the Voted Permission of the Australian People.
- 8 All 3 Units that make up this Parliament are Equally to blame for creating Unconstitutional Governance in Australia.
- 9 Therefore Why is it important to be Constitutionally correct on some issues like Voting Numbers in Electorates, when other important issues are Not treated with Constitutional Respect. This are Numerous Blatant Examples

2

To do what is seemingly Proposed by the information available to myself. (AN Australian) All that The Electoral Commission, and their master, will achieve is the Breakdown of Unity of Communities that are trying to work together.

It is of No Point of Issue to say Equality of Numbers of Voters in an Electorate is necessary. The Constitution does Not Provide for that, and it has never been practiced that each Vote has the same Value since 1st January 1901 when Australia and its Constitution was Proclaimed.

Those Australians that choose to Purchase a Copy of The Constitution and can literally understand what is described as Accurate, should soon understand the content. Those Australians that dont choose to Purchase a Copy, and have Not Read an Accurate Copy that is on Sale, Would No little or Nothing about it and therefore could have a very small Valid Opinion, would be quite easy to Manipulate by The Power that be.

Leave the Issue of Boundaries Alone. I suggest and get on with doing something useful for Australian People. There are Numerous Issues that Need Urgent Attention.

WILLIAM J. MANNING
94 QUEEN ST.
MARYBOROUGH
4650

William J Manning

COMMENT

No - 18

20-7-06