Australian Electoral Office

And state Manager for Tasmania

To whom it may concern

I write to express concern at the proposed exclusion of Latrobe from the electorate of Braddon.

From a historical, cultural, political sporting perspective Latrobe is clearly identified with Tasmania's northwest coast and therefore part of the Braddon electorate.

To lose this electoral affiliation could well be to the detriment of Latrobe.

With state and federal politicians promoting their Braddon electorate with its sound and vibrant agricultural, tourist, industrial and commercial enterprises. It would indeed be disappointing and make little apparent sense to have Latrobe, which is geographically part of this region denied the benefits that accrue from the political association with the area.
