Australian Electoral Commission

Dear Committee Members

I'm very sorry to read of the intention of the Commission to dissolve the Federal Seat of Reid.

I was born in Granville and still contribute by doing voluntary work in the area. My family go back many years and feel there is a lot of history connected to the area that would be lost. Granville has played a very large part in the development of Sydney and many well known people have been born or contributed to the area. William McMahon has had nothing to do with this area so feel he does not deserve to be recognised especially in the Western Suburbs. Reid has been the electorate for many years and therefore part of our history which I feel should not be eroded. We have lost so much of our past history in NSW and with the diverse nationality of people feel what we have should be kept so that we at least have some type of background to pass on to our future generations.

I beg you not to dissolve Reid and think about what history goes with the area before coming up with modern names that mean nothing.

Yours sincerely

Robyn Gibson            26th August 2009
