Tom et al.

A clearer picture is now emerging see below. Numbers where we may have genuine concern may be lower than perhaps early indications would have suggested. I will chat later with Anna just to be 100% I have understood each of the explanations for the numbers. Most make sense but one or two need a little more explanation I think still.

Hi Anna,

The following is the result of the investigation into Herbert's multi-voters.

Number of voters where genuine marks exist on certified list pages	25
Number of voters pending investigation	42

– declaration envelope and ordinary voter or two declaration envelopes
Number of voters with incorrect other marks – smudge, blemish, scribble, dots or print bleed through	82
Number of voters where error clock not marked by polling official	6
Number of voters where error clock mark was missed during scanning	6
Number of voters where possible match with a non-voter	34
Number of voters with more than 1 mark	195
Number of voters with more than 2 marks	0

Note: 22 multi-voters were not loaded into the Multi-mark database due to there being no physical mark against the elector.

Regards

Leonie
