RE Franklin boundary change and change of name
I am writing to congratulate the AEC for the unification of the geographical area through this boundary change and the suggested name of Tongerlongeter.
I have been a property owner in Tasmania since 2002 and keenly interested in the history of the indigenous peoples of Tasmania dispossessed by the colonial forces and colonial residents. There is currently no Tasmanian electorate with a First Nations name. The Franklin reconfiguration geographically unites people literally across waters. It is time for a fresh start and to pay tribute to the First Nations peoples whose land it was for thousands and thousands of years. Tongerlongeter is a very appropriate name as he was the leader of the Oyster Bay Nation, a great warrior, fought tirelessly for his people and eventually brokered a peace and worked with the colonial government. This is a powerful and symbolic acknowledgment of his sacrifice in defending his Country and his people. This is not reparation but it is appropriate recognition. We do not need to perpetuate white colonial names

Yours sincerely
