Sir John Franklin's name should not be removed from the electorate. It ought to be preserved both because of his contributions, and because the electorate itself was established with this name over a century ago - such history and continuity is important to maintain.

Further, it will set a frightening precedent; one which holds no regard for the honours and traditions handed down from those who came before us.

"Every record has been destroyed or falsified, every book has been rewritten, every picture has been repainted, every statue and street and building has been renamed, every date has been altered. And that process is continuing day by day and minute by minute. History has stopped. Nothing exists except an endless present in which the Party is always right."
George Orwell, 1984
