Submission on the proposed Tasmanian redistribution details

Category: Names

Details: So you've proposed renaming an electorate called after a man after another man.

Tasmania doesn't have any electorates named just for women, surely it's about time that it did. There are more electorates named for Indigenous words or people than there are for women, surely you could name an electorate for a women.

Tasmania doesn't have Federation electorates, and since the first single member electorates were created for the 1903 election, we haven't had an electorate named for a woman in her own right. Lyons doesn't count as it was named for a husband and wife, and would have been named for the husband anyway as he was a Prime Minister.

There were good women offered as ideas in objections and comments on objections, but according to your announcement you only considered three names other than the one you proposed.

Poor effort all round.
