Submission on the proposed South Australian redistribution details

Category: Names

Details: I support the proposal to rename the Division of Grey to ODonoghue. Dr Lowitja ODonoghue has a deep and lifelong connection to the region, having been born, raised and having worked extensively there. Renaming the electorate in her honour appropriately recognises her national leadership and her contribution to Aboriginal health and advocacy. This change would carry a meaningful legacy, creating a powerful ripple effect that extends beyond the electorate itself. It would affirm the importance of recognising Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander leadership in Australias public life, while also fostering greater awareness, respect and inclusion among the broader community. Recognising Dr ODonoghue in this way would not only honour her achievements, but also contribute to a more representative and forward looking national identity.
