Submission on the proposed South Australian redistribution details

Category: Names

Details: Keep the name Grey. It is a core part of South Australia's geopolitical history, with the honoured man, Sir George Grey, being a key advocate and shaper of what is today the State of South Australia. This is not to undermine the legacy of the proposed name, but doing so at the cost of the colony's and state's history is a travesty and undermines the honour intended. Instead, when a new electorate is required to be named, that would be an appropriate time to introduce the name. But Grey should stay in perpetuity.
